Religion as the Basis of Lincoln's Character, Subject of Rev. Charles H.

At the Greeneville Congregational church Sunday morning Rev. C. H. Ricketts preached on Religion as the Basis of Lincoln's Character. He said As human greatness is only relative, there is no fixed standard by which we can measure men. The lines along which some are strong others are weak, and their lack of a standard makes all comparisons more or less is planning for a very interesting meeting this evening, the occasion being Yet some men in the light of what they were and what they did stand will question the lofty pedestal on which Washington and Lincoln stand in the judgment of the American people, and yet they were so outwardly Norwich, Conn., that a meeting of the shareholders will be held at The unlike that no comparison between them is satisfactory. The proximity of ligion. A fundamental act of religion is to grow into the likeness of the Creator, and one way of doing this is clearly written in our lives always means something, while mere adher-ence to a church dogma may mean little or nothing.

This evidence of religion was seen in For Mrs. Donald B. MacLane Who creating a substitute for the usual course of education.

Next to meanness, nothing is more displeasing to the Almighty than ignorance, as seen in the superiority of the control of the control mental power over every other posses-sion save moral worth. When Lincoln realized that no college diploma would ever adorn his room, he determined that its equivalent should adorn his life, and how he succeeded is a matter of history. His struggle for learning shows what may be done when a boy is dead in earnest and believes in himself.

Incoln did not carry his faith on his coatsleeve—never gave his experience in a prayer meeting—perhaps he did not accept a formulated statement of heological belief, but Governor Baldwin the other day was clearly reserved. when he said that Lincoln was in error when he once stated that he was not a Christian. If it is religion to have a great purpose in life; if it is religion to put forth every atom of one's strength to realize that purpose; it is religion to turn one's back on he soft, easy, luxurious and sensual ife to discover what God's will is, hen Lincoln was religious to the very core, much more so than mere accept ance of a church creed. Lincoln's religion was seen in his never failing disposition to treat all nen with fairness and justice. Attenon Avas here called to the emphasis he out on the doctrine of political equal-ty; the greatest doctrine ever assert-d on American soil. His fairness was also seen in his historic debates with Stephen A. Douglass. The spirit of Lincoln seemed to agree with the teaching of Christ in the gospel of Luke: "For he hath annointed me to preach the gospel to the poor, to heal the broken-hearted, to preach deliverdeliver- fellow workers are looking for and and sto kind, friendly words will do more good ance the captives set at liberty them that are bruised."

One New Member. The Hely Name society of St. Mary's church held their regular menthly meeting in their assembly reoms Sunday afternoon with a large attendance. Business of a routine nature was transacted and one new member was

HOW YOU MAY THROW AWAY YOUR GLASSES

The statement is made that thou-sands wear glasses who do not really need them. If you are one of these unfortunates, then these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. Thousands who wear these "windows" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with glasses if they will get the following prescription filled at once: Go to Lee and Osgood or any active drug store and get a bottle of Opiona; fill a twoounce bottle with warm water and drop in one Opiona tablet. With this harmless liquid solution bathe the eyes two to four times daily, and you are likely to be astonished at the reare likely to be astonished at the results right from the start. Many whhave been told that they have astig matism, eye-strain, cataract, so eyelids, weak eyes, conjunctivities and other eye disorders, report wonderf benefits from the use of this pr scription. Get this prescription fille and use it; you may so strengthe your eyes that glasses will not be necessary. Thousands who are blind, onearly so, or who wear glasses would have been supported by the state of the state every few years they must be changed to fit the ever-increasing weakened condition, so better see if you can, like many others, get clear, healthy, strong magnetic eyes through the pre-scription here given.
